FROM MEDIEVAL TO RENAISSANCE LATE 15th TO EARLY 16th CENTURY

These packs are part of a major range of 15mm figures covering the last years of the Medieval era and the first years of the Renaissance era. From the final battles of Barnet and Tewkesbury of the War of the Roses, through the conflicts between France and Burgundy and the emergence of the Swiss as a major fighting force. The German forces of the Emperor, who took part in most of the wars of this period whether for their own master, or as mercenaries or as specialists manning the artillery.

Further releases will not only expand the countries already covered but will also expand the range geographically to cover conflicts further a field. It should be remembered that although we have categorized each figure as belonging to a particular country, many soldiers served in armies other than their own, styles were copied and the wealthy bought armour from great armourers, irrespective of nationality.
